

Glenn E. Siegel was born on Long Island, New York and was raised in Bergen County, New Jersey. While attending Fair Lawn High School, he interned and worked on the campaign for Congressman Robert Torricelli and obtained an interest in law. After graduating from high school, he attended Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana, where he obtained a Bachelor of Arts in History, with a dual minor in Business and Economics.

Glenn went on to study law at Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale, where he served for two years as an Editor for the International Journal of Comparative Law Review. While in law school, he interned at the City Prosecutor's Office in Ft. Lauderdale. After graduating from law school, Glenn began his legal career with Lesser & Lesser, P.A. (now Lesser, Lesser, Landy & Smith, PLLC), where he practiced primarily in the area of personal injury litigation. He then went to work for Progressive Insurance Company, where he oversaw and determined the proper course of action for all personal injury protection (PIP) litigation filed against Progressive in Palm Beach County. After Progressive, Glenn switched sides and represented the plaintiffs, both health care providers and their patients directly, in the area of PIP litigation.

In August of 2006 Glenn rejoined the law firm of Lesser, Lesser, Landy & Smith, where he returned with his experience and skill in PIP litigation, and is Chair of the firm's PIP Litigation Department. Glenn has handled thousands of PIP cases over the years and has been featured as a guest lecturer for other attorney and community organizations. He has several published legal opinions involving various PIP issues. Glenn also continues to handle automobile negligence, premises liability and general personal injury cases at the Firm.
